

LATEST NEWS

Date: Thursday 6 November 2008

VICSES Volunteers Go Nuts with Macadamia

VICSES volunteers Mohammed Alam from Northcote Unit, Omar Sayegh from Broadmeadows Unit and Robert MacMillan from St Kilda Unit were today pleased to be guests on the 'Going Nuts with Macadamia' T V program at the Royal Children's Hospital.

The VICSES volunteers were invited on the show to promote National SES week, which this year runs from 8 – 16 November.

The panel-style program was hosted by Sean Coleman, and his sidekick 'Macadamia', a colourful, playful puppet who thought the VICSES volunteers resembled boy band Divo.

They were also joined by two young patients, who had the chance to ask the VICSES volunteers about what they do in the SES and check out the kid's corner on the VICSES website.

The VICSES volunteers' guest appearance on 'Going Nuts with Macadamia' will air twice daily on Royal Children's Hospital CCTV until next Thursday.

VICSES Volunteers Mohammed Alam, Omar and Robert MacMillan 'Go Nuts With Macadamia'.